THE LOUISIANA FLOOD.

The people of Louisiana are prostrated by the terrific scourge of the Mississippi, which has broken through the levees and poured its waters over the richest and most thickly settled parishes of the State.

This means an enormous loss to the Louisianians. The inundating water has destroyed the crops, and when it subsides there will be no time to put down a new crop. The turbid river has, in insatiable cruelty, taken the food from the mouths of the people of unfortunate Louisiana.

There will be misery and poverty. Doubtless succor from more prosperous communities will be grateful to the flooded planters, and such help as they need should be generously afforded them. The flood has shown the inefficiency of the existing levees as a barrier to the Mississippi's swollen current. Something more effectual will have to be devised.

POLITICAL ECHOES.

The Narragansett Club—the Tammany Hall organization of the Nineteenth Assembly District—held one of its characteristic enjoyable entertainments at the club-house. No. 307 West Fifty-fourth street, last night.

No fears are felt by any of the present Police Justices that Senator Fessenden will be led into a trap set for him. The Anti-Slavery Guards, with the assistance of the anti-slavery, will attend to the case in the Assembly. The wicked Assemblyman thinks that there is more chance of his becoming a Police Justice by appointment than by election.

The 300 members of the Steeple Association will help Frank H. Murtha celebrate the twentieth anniversary of his career as a theatrical manager, to-morrow night are counting on a most enjoyable time.

An interesting conundrum which is bothering politicians just now, who will be Tammany's candidate for Mayor of New York, probably next week, will be the return of Richard Croker from Europe. Mayor Grant is positively not a candidate for re-election.

William H. Grace is playing the game of politics with all the skill of he is master, to make it impossible for anti-Tammany politicians to nominate any one but him for Mayor.

Thomas J. Jefferson's shields, the ex-Alderman of 1864 & the bold of the Seventh Ward, has a knife sharpening to cut short the political career of "Little Giant" Congressman John Henry McMillan. The little man knows the value of his own shield, and is said to be already making preparations to defend himself exclusively to the practice of law when his present term in Congress expires.

One of the first things the new Campaign Committee of the Business Men's Republican Organization chosen at last night's primaries will do is to plant their organization in the Seventh, Tenth, Thirteenth, Fifteenth, Seventeenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second and Twenty-third Assembly Districts, and reorganize the Fifth District Committee. They do not propose to stop short of a perfect political organization.

ATHLETES IN REPOSE.

Harry Young is among the youthful runners of the Manhattan Athletic Club. He is dashing in the saddle in great style every day, getting in the exercise of his legs.

The Manhattan Athletic Club does great things for Ed Lure, the eminent expert in the sumoing line. Ed has kept himself in fine trim all winter, and is prepared to walk off with a few prizes this year.

Bob Magat is a fierce soldier ladle of the Seventh Regiment. He looks after the foot department of the Seventh's athletic association. He is also an active member of the Staten Island Athletic Club and one of its governors.

Charles Gallagher lets her go for the Metropolitan Boat Club. His conspicuous among the carmen of that lively organization.

WORLDLINGS.

Adeline Patti is an accomplished Burlesque, speaking several languages fluently.

The lace owned by the feminine members of the Astor family is said to be worth at least $300,000. That which the late Mrs. Astor bequeathed to the Metropolitan Museum of Art was valued at from $40,000 to $50,000.

The three little daughters of Gen. Phil Sheridan are day models at a Catholic convent in Washington. Mary, the eldest, is about fourteen, and looks very much like her father. They are usually dressed very plain in black.

"Carmen" Sings. The famous singer is said to be an illustrious specimen. She has a voice like a trumpet and can sing for hours without getting tired.

It is said that Fisher has no son. How if it is the case? Until long after Lent?

Philadelphia Times.

It is false that the Florida orange-growers count on a large crop of naval oranges for 1890, thinking they may be needed for the naval parade here.

There is a difference between a boxer and a brawler.

A star actor is not half as much in arrears as one would think from his having to make up for nearly all he does.

A petrified infant was exhumed from an old cemetery. The long dead baby dying, but he reached the stars again afterwards.

MAGNIFICENCE OF THE "SPEAKER."

From the Spectator.

Visitors approaching a man coming out of the House—Sir, are you a member of the House?

Mrs. Head has been kind enough, however, to allow me to sit in there and listen.

THE WAYS OF WOMAN FAIR.

Some ears, especially large ones, are inclined to redness, which conceivous that is not always desirable. Any lotion for whitening the face may be used on the vivid organs with some advantage.

A bandage of flannel worn next to the skin, a famous New York dressress says, will relieve acute stomachache and facilitate digestion. Alimentation as well as vegetation is accelerated by heat.

At the White House dance last evening Mrs. McKee wore a prettily constructed gown of white mousseline de soie combined with apple-green velvet and ribbons. Mrs. Russell Harrison appeared in a gown of yellowish-awn foam green tulles, with a necklace of diamonds and emeralds. Miss Shepard, the daughter of Col. Elliott F. Shepard, of New York, was the belle of the ball, being the guest of honor. She was all in white, a gown of white tulles over satin. Her jewels were turquoise and diamonds.
